Municipal Court, sometimes called "City court," hears cases involving violations of municipal ordinances. Most often, citizens appear in this court for speeding tickets and other traffic violations. However, this court also hears codes violations such as loose animals, high grass, and other violations of City ordinances that seek to ensure the public safety and welfare. The municipal judge and the municipal court clerk are both appointed by the City's governing body.

General Sessions Court

Every county is served by this type of court of limited jurisdiction, which hears both civil and criminal cases. Civil jurisdiction is restricted to specific monetary limits and types of actions. Criminal jurisdiction is limited to preliminary hearings in felony cases and misdemeanor trials in which a defendant waives the right to a grand jury investigation and trial by jury in Circuit or Criminal Court.

Adults arrested or issued misdemeanor summons for crimes committed within the city limits of Johnson City are generally processed through one of three county detention facilities and the corresponding sessions court. Typical cases include: driving on suspended license, DUI, theft, assault, etc.

First appearance court dates and times are assigned at the time of arrest or summons issuance.
